

Choose the right audio management software for your business

Our audio management software lets you manage and control your audio systems - no matter how complex they are. From a single user interface, you have full control of your audio system for everything from installation to daily operations.

Axis audio management software helps you realize the benefits of network audio. It comes embedded in network speakers or as a standalone unit, so it's easy to grow your business as your needs change.

Benefits of Axis audio management software

Axis audio manager software offers you an easy way to manage your audio management system, helping ensure your message reaches the right target group, at the right time. All tailored to your specific needs.

Content management

Play background music and live or pre-recorded messages

Content prioritization

Prioritize content and ensure urgent messages interrupt the schedule

Scheduling

Schedule when and where to play specific content

Health monitoring

Discover system errors remotely

Zone management

Divide your site into zones and play content of your choice in one or more zones

User management and access control

Control who has access to what features

Over!

What options are available?

AXIS Audio Manager Edge

- Free license
- Built-in on all Axis network speakers

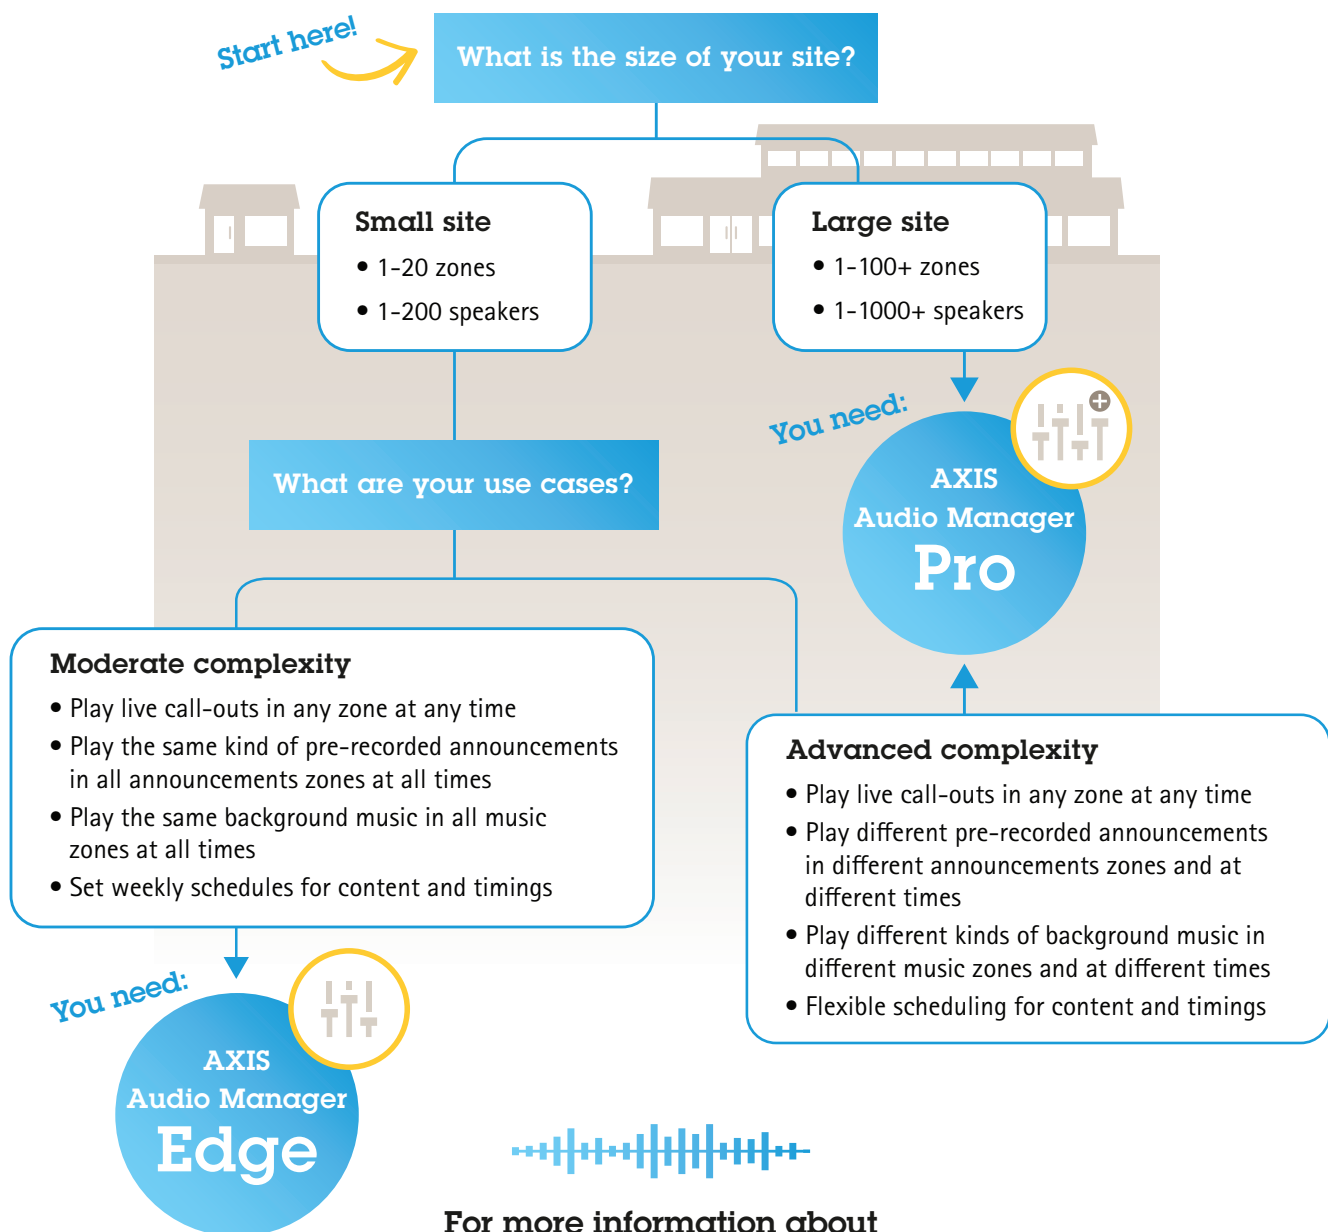

AXIS Audio Manager Pro

- One-time license
- Installed on Windows PC

Which option is right for your business?

For more information about Axis network audio, visit us at www.axis.com/audio

